

SATS

A popular topic among the year 6 community currently is the upcoming SATs test. I would understand why people are worried about the upcoming event, but there is really no need to fear. The Statutory Assessment Tests (SATs) are designed for the year 6's, not for year 9's, not for the year 2's. They were built to assess the skills you currently know, meaning everything has already been taught. So as long as you don't forget anything. You should be alright.

You should also keep in mind that we have been practising for these tests for years. That's not an exaggeration. In year 2 we did our practice sats, in year 3 onwards we did our 99 clubs. And in 6 we have been completing masses of preparation tests and challenges. Though if you are still not confident and believe you don't know enough, I have prepared a few sites so you can enhance your skills which are already outstanding:

CGP Books: Free KS2 SATS Online 10-Minute Tests | CGP Books

BBC Bitesize: KS2 - BBC Bitesize

IXL: IXL - Year 6 maths practice

Education Quizzes: KS2 - Over 500 Enjoyable Quizzes for Children Aged 7 to 11
(educationquizzes.com)

Top Marks: spelling - Topmarks Search

Another important thing to cover is that everyone above year 6 level has done their SATs. Siblings, parents, and teachers. There's no harm in asking for advice or assistance. But if you don't feel like asking for any tips from your relatives, here are some simple tips that you should follow.

- . Work Hard
- . Practise Your Times Tables
- . Don't Overwork Yourself
- . Eat Well and Sleep Well
- . Revise
- . Be As Quick and as careful as you can

I would also like to recommend a YouTuber by the name of Thomas Blakemore, his year 6 SATs videos are really helpful and can boost your confidence considerably:

Thomas Blakemore: (160) Thomas Blakemore - YouTube

Thank You very much for reading this section, and I hope the websites will help.

William